

2024 international festival of theatre schools

14.1.2024

Kicking off the International Festival of Theatre Schools (IFTS), Higher Education Minister R Bindu graced the occasion with her inaugural presence. Padayani and Pulluvan Patt performances dazzle, bringing diverse cultures together. Unveiling nature's connection with the launch of the 'Y not' dating app, where roots meet bytes under the cultural canopy.

TESTIMONIALS

IFTS 2024 has already kickstarted on a high note. From a pristine inauguration ceremony to having a fun music jamming session to finally watching a beautiful Padayani performance, we as students and theatre enthusiasts could not have asked for a better start to this festival! Looking forward to the remaining days of workshops and other engaging activities as part of IFTS.

This is my very first time attending a theatre related event. It's been eye opening.comparing the way we are coming from, others are very different . The way we do things is totally different. Kerala is the hub of all events. I realised that theatre people are simple people. We observe life differently. It was enlightening to watch Padayani performance.
